1. Claims 1-36 are presented for examination.

2. The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

3. Claims 1, 8, 12, and 30 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

As to claim 1, "the client" lacks positive antecedent basis. For purpose of examination Examiner assume applicant meant "the client service".

As to claim 8, applicant claims "wherein the response is returned immediately upon receiving the response" is indefinite and confusing. For purpose of examination Examiner assume applicant meant "wherein another response is returned immediately upon receiving the response from the client service".

As to claims 12 and 30 "the server service" lacks positive antecedent basis. For purpose of examination Examiner assume applicant meant "server service".

4. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. § 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless -

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

Art Unit: 2141

(e) the invention was described in a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention thereof by the applicant for patent, or on an international application by another who has fulfilled the requirements of paragraphs (1), (2), and (4) of section 371(c) of this title before the invention thereof by the applicant for patent.

The changes made to 35 U.S.C. 102(e) by the American Inventors Protection Act of 1999 (AIPA) and the Intellectual Property and High Technology Technical Amendments Act of 2002 do not apply when the reference is a U.S. patent resulting directly or indirectly from an international application filed before November 29, 2000. Therefore, the prior art date of the reference is determined under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) prior to the amendment by the AIPA (pre-AIPA 35 U.S.C. 102(e)).

- 5. Claims 1-36 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. § 102(e) as being anticipated by Van Watermulen et al. (Watermulen) patent no. 6,604,046.
- 6. As to claim 1, Watermulen teaches the invention substantially as claimed, including a method in a data processing system for accessing a client service, the method comprising:

managing a pool of connections to the client service (col. 4 line 61 - col. 5 line 8);

Art Unit: 2141

responsive to a request from a user application from a plurality of user applications assigning a client service from the pool of client service instances (col. 4 line 61 - col. 5 line 27);

invoking the request on the client service (col. 5 line 9 - 41); and responsive to receiving a response from the client service, returning the result to the user application (col. 5 lines 55).

- 7. As to claims 2-3, Watermulen teaches freeing the client service back to the pool after invoking the request on the client service; waiting for the response from the client service after the client service has been invoked; and responsive to a timeout occurring while waiting for the response, returning a response to the user indicating that the timeout has occurred (col. 4 line 59 col. 5 line 27).
- 8. As to claims 4-6 and 12, Watermulen teaches the user application is a client application; the client service is an application programming interface to a server process; the server process and server service are located on a remote data processing system (Figures 1-2).
- 7. The method of claim 7, wherein the pool of client services is used to access report services on a server (col. 4 line 61 col. 5 line 8).

Art Unit: 2141

9. As to claim 8-11, Watermulen teaches another response is returned immediately upon receiving the response from the client service; a error message is returned to the user application after a period of time passes without receiving the response; placing the request in a queue if there are no free client services within the pool of client services; a particular client service instance only accepts and processes one request at a time (col. 3 lines 6-21; col. 4 line 61 - col. 5 line 27; col. 11 line 34; col. 12 line 49)

10. Claims 13-36 have similar limitations as claims 1-12; therefore, they are rejected under the same rationale.
